HOME BY CHRISTMAS A storm has forced the Balangay flotilla to change course and skip the Vietnam leg of its journey. Here, the Sama Tawi-Tawi, Masawa Hong Butuan and Diwata ng Lahi navigate the heavy swells and strong winds that blew the flotilla off course toward Indonesia. But crew leader Arturo Valdez said in an e-mail message on Tuesday that the sailors would be home from the sea by Christmas.

A MESSAGE FROM FIRST PHILIPPINE INDUSTRIAL CORPORATION

Our Commitment To Public Safety and Welfare

First Philippine Industrial Corporation (FPIC) apologizes to the public for the inconvenience brought about by the leak discovered in our petroleum transport pipeline. We have committed the necessary resources to locate, in the quickest possible time, the leak which has been isolated within a 120-meter stretch of the pipeline along the southbound lane of the Osmeña Highway.

FPIC has been working closely with the City of Makati, with the invaluable help of UP-NIGS, to pinpoint the leak. But unfortunately, its location directly under the Magallanes flyover ramp has made it more difficult to gain access.

We continue to work round-the-clock to determine the exact location of, and to eventually repair the leak.

WE ASSURE THE PUBLIC THAT:

- All excavations and related activities are primarily being done with the utmost concern and care for the public's safety and welfare.
- We are working in close coordination with the various agencies concerned such as the Makati City, Department of Energy, Department of Public Works and Highways, Metro Manila Development Authority and Southern Police District.
- We have installed all the necessary safety and security precautions including barriers and signage to avoid any accidents in the site.
- We are ready to deploy internationally respected specialists in the assessment, and should the need arise, the collection, treatment and disposal of spilled petroleum.
- We are conducting regular gas emission tests and have installed air blowers at the site to mitigate the accumulation of fumes in the area.
- We have a standby recovery and containment truck stationed at the site.
- Fire-fighting equipment such as chemical foam, foam eductors, fire extinguishers are on standby throughout the site.
- We have fixed and roving security personnel deployed at the site 24/7 to enhance security and to ensure that only authorized personnel are allowed into the area.

We, at FPIC would like to assure everyone that public health, safety and concern for the environment are paramount in everything we are doing to resolve this challenge.

DMCI completed, the 6,000-sq m SoleMare Parkbates will feature four 15-story buildings.

Unique lifestyle awaits SoleMare residents

Text and photos
by Charles E. Buban

IN JUST a few years, the area across the Department of Foreign Affairs office on Macapagal Avenue will be known as the Bay City, a business and entertainment hub where hotels, office buildings, embassies, business process outsourcing companies as well as high-end retail establishments will soon rise.

This more than 1,000 hectares of reclaimed area along the coast of Manila Bay will also be the home of the much anticipated Entertainment City Manila of the Philippine Amusement and Gaming Corp. (Pagcor).

"Of course there will also be residential developments rising in this area and we are glad to be the first to open here after having recognized the potential of this area as early as 2006," said Ellen Berle Sarenas, Anchor Land Holdings Inc. VP for sales and marketing.

Anchor Land will soon be turning over the first of the four towers of its first mid-rise offering, the SoleMare Parkbates located on Bradco Avenue right beside Aseana Powerstation (where McDonald's and Shell fuel station are located).

Surprised

"We were surprised by the market's response as we were able to sell out the first tower in just one year prompting us to proceed with the second one as homebuyers are just too excited about the possibilities of living in the middle of what soon will be the largest single development of its kind in the country," Sarenas said.

Once completed, the 6,000-sq m SoleMare Parkbates will feature four 15-story buildings offering one- to two-bedroom (or combination of three units) fully furnished units.

In the showroom located right across the project site, Anchor Land presented several options on how these rooms will be delivered to their homebuyers, from the functional 23.5-sq m one-bedroom units (one option offering a garden) to 51-sq m combined unit that offers two bedrooms to the penthouse four-bedroom unit that offers 166.6 sq m of floor space and a balcony.

"The functionality of each unit is also unique as we made each one ready to be combined with adjacent rooms. This sort of option offers our buyers a lot of flexibility," Sarenas explained.

She added that another factor that attracts them would be buyers is the fact that each room will be provided with furniture and appliances that only few developers would offer in this price range.

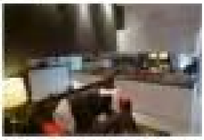

"We made sure that our sales and marketing team is knowledgeable so many members would be able to fully explain all the things that our would-be buyers would be enjoying once they move in," Sarenas said.

Structurally appealing

She added that Anchor Land commissioned the country's best architects to match the strategic location with structurally appealing units. "We carefully planned the design of the residential towers to ensure that, based on classic European touch, each unit reflects the lifestyle of its future occupants," Sarenas said.

"Anchor Land designed the four buildings to surround the property's outdoor facilities that included swimming pools, parks or gardens and playing areas," she described.

"Frankly, we were surprised by how well our homebuyers have responded to SoleMare Parkbates. There was, in fact, an initial apprehension on our part that the recent financial crisis might affect market conditions. Our buyers, mostly overseas Filipino workers and startup families, have matured and realized that investing on properties such as this is one of the best ways to undertake," she said.

EACH room will be provided with furniture and appliances.

THE FUNCTIONALITY of each unit is also unique as Anchor Land made each one ready to be combined with adjacent rooms.

Slim's fashion design graduate puts romance into her designs. Ex-model opens a by invitation-only concept boutique for designer party frocks

Background

My family was into the textile business so I grew up in an environment where toys were the fabrics. My favorite game was playing dress-up in pieces I had around.

I took up Fine Arts, major in Advertising, at the University of Santo Tomas, and Fashion Design at Slims Fashion and Arts School.

I used to belong to a design group called Accessory and Subversion, and worked alongside fashion designers Martin Bautista and Patrick Galang, my co-alumni from Slims. We used to do all the legwork, from selling our creations to organizing our fashion shows, until we were all able to join Philippine Fashion Week in May 2008.

Philippine Fashion Week Summer 2011 is my sixth time to showcase my collection.

Design aesthetic

The common theme for my creations is romance. Sometimes it's dark and mysterious, other times positive and dreamy.

I'm a romantic myself—I'm very emotional and expressive. It reflects in the way I design.

I create to present options for fashion lovers. My clothes are well crafted. They fit well. They are visually thought-provoking but wearable.

I always incorporate my client's personal style because I want her to feel that when she's wearing decorum who she is.

Inspiration

My emotions and feelings (and so I take inspiration from family, friends, and the people around me. I pull out emotions from experiences and interactions with the people I cherish to complete a story for my collections.

Key pieces

I usually do dresses, blouses and skirts because that's how I dress and it's easier for women to wear them in any occasion. But sooner or later I'll make pants, too. Everyone needs to explore and learn. Design and fashion are a never-ending learning process.

Latest collection

For Fall 2010, my collection is titled, "Black Beauty." It is about a woman in love and happy. She's passionate and seductive. She's sweet but tough. Music, specifically for this collection, really inspired me a lot.

Upcoming collection

Wilderness. It's about a woman lost in the forest. She keeps on running through the woods, searching for her path home. She'll wear lots of smaller hemline skirts, flowy dresses, short shorts, chiffon ball skirts and cotton tops. Her clothes are for women, and they change as she explores challenges.

Ari Siwa for Sly Boutique

Background

I've been immersed in the fashion and club industries as a model, club owner and events promoter. I also joined fashion and design classes. I have friends who are very successful entrepreneurs, whom I learn business from and who help guide my budding fashion enterprise.

Sly Boutique offers prêt-a-porter, unique couture pieces and made-to-measure clothes. It is composed of a design team in-house and freelance designers, production team and brand consultants.

Sly Boutique has a by-invitation, private-viewing format only. We are on our third month of operations.

Brand philosophy

Sly Boutique combines fashion with an elite, cool lounge experience; strictly exclusive, private viewing parties, than to publish the brand as the ultimate go-to boutique for discriminating trendsetters. The brand is sexy and fun. Sexiness and luxury will always be celebrated in Sly.

From a business point of view, there is nothing in the Philippine market like Sly right now. We combine the exclusivity of high fashion and the availability of ready-to-wear. We're tapping into that gap, where consumers aspire to own a piece of couture, yet are still able to wear it outside the confines of an editorial magazine.

From a customer's point of view, we wanted to provide an intimate and exclusive shopping experience where you can shop at leisure and enjoy a party atmosphere at the same time. Where else can you shop for clothes, enjoy a lot of bubbly and have a DJ spinning deep sexy grooves for you?

GRAY jersey one-shoulder dress

PHOTOGRAPHED BY [illegible]

WHITE jersey draped dress with shoulder cutouts and beaded collar

Design aesthetics

We are about affirming women who like being women and are not afraid to show it, contemporizing that philosophy are trendy and sexy clothes celebrating the woman's form.

Inspiration

I get inspired by the party scene, women in power, and luxury. I also find the best inspiration when I'm faced with challenges.

Key pieces

One-of-a-kind, statement party dresses, jumpsuits and swimwear.

Latest collection

Sly revolves around the provocative trinity of "Sex, Power and Seduction"—under each category is a collection of pieces that assumes a rendezvous fantasy situation—which corresponds to three colors: black, gray and white.

We wanted each category to be as specific as possible, to allow our clients to choose a personal, while hopping from one party to another.

Are they feeling the spicy allure of sex, the heady opulence of power, or the teasing flirtatiousness of seduction? For each collection, you'll see these distinct styles.

"Sex" collection has leather and sheer materials, while the other collection emphasizes on strong shoulders, waists, and structured designs.

Another is more relaxed yet sexy lounge, jumpsuits, tunics, with a lot of draping and hand-beaded details for that instant glam from day to night.

Upcoming collection

Sly's signature shoe and bag line.

University of the Philippines-Tacloban

Doesn't studying in a school situated close to the beach sound lovely?

For most of us, it's something we could only dream of during hell weeks and slow class hours. But this is not the case for UP Tacloban students—their school is built close to the beach.

"You can see the beach from your classroom," says UP Tacloban senior, Gabriella Pomigas.

"You can think of summer all the time by just closing your eyes and smelling the ocean saltwater," she adds.

As if the location of their campus isn't wonderful enough, UP Tacloban is also a butterfly and bird sanctuary. Now, what's not to treasure about that?

SWEETS AND SENSIBILITY:

BEING SMART ABOUT CHILDREN'S SUGAR INTAKE

Parents only want the best for their child and one of their biggest concerns is proper nourishment. As a loving parent, you cannot be too indulgent or too strict with what your child eats and drinks. The key is knowing how to balance. Sometimes it's perfectly fine to give in to your child's sweet tooth. However, you must also know when to hold back on sweets.

To achieve balanced nutrition, it's best to be discerning about your child's sugar intake. By having a good understanding of how sugar affects health, you can make a big difference in your child's nutrition.

Sugar: Friend or Foe?
Examine the food in your refrigerator or dining table. Most of them contain sugar. Sugar is one of three kinds of carbohydrate along with starch and fiber. In food, it is classified as either naturally occurring or added.

Lactose in milk and fructose in fruit are some forms of naturally occurring sugars. While sucrose, your ordinary table sugar, is one form of added sugar.

When children eat foods containing naturally occurring sugars, they [illegible] daily dose of vitamins and minerals.

While eating foods containing added sugar provide nothing but empty calories.

Health is at Stake with Excessive Sugar Intake
So the sugar to watch out for is added sugar.

Why? Added sugar does not contain vitamins and minerals and displaces nutritious food in children's diets. Excessive intakes of added sugar also boost overeating that may lead to childhood obesity.

Childhood obesity increases health risks like cardiovascular diseases, bone and joint problems and sleep apnea. It may also lead to social and psychological problems such as poor self-esteem.

To Check Sugar Content, Check the Label
Part of smart parenting is to check the label of your child's food and drinks, including milk. Make it your habit to meticulously read labels, and not merely scan before making a purchase.

Remember, on the Nutrition Facts panel of a food label, added sugars may have many names.

- Corn syrup
- High-fructose corn syrup
- Dextrose
- Maltodextrins
- Granulated sugar
- Invert sugar
- Concentrated fruit juice sweetener

In milk, it is usually listed as carbohydrates.

To know about added sugar in your child's milk, check the carbohydrate content.

More Milk, Less Sugar!
Generally in milk, less carbohydrates mean less sugar. Among 3+ milk brands, NIDO® 3+ contains the lowest carbohydrate content per 100 grams. It only has 49 grams of carbohydrates per 100 grams. So you can be sure your child is getting more milk, less sugar.

See the difference in your child's health today by being smart about sugar intake. With sugar under control, your kids will lead the sweet life!

Penshoppe chic is fun!

Classy comfort is the byword of its Spring/Summer collection

[illegible]

Femme fatale

Penshoppe chic is…

Fine and dandy

The men didn't miss out as they had their fair share of fashion-forward ensembles. Tailored blazers in different shades of gray and brown made for "a more polished yet casual look without much effort."

Lightweight scarves added swagger, while checkered pieces such as shorts, but low-down shirts and jackets in cool blue and in mint green offered a more playful vibe.

Whether you're out on the streets, going on a date or walking into a boardroom, Penshoppe's casual yet tailored silhouettes would surely work 24/7.

"We wanted to make it very chic, but at the same time a lot of fun to wear. After all, [illegible] pretty much sums up summer," says Penshoppe's brand director Alex Mendoza.
